JUNIOR WEEK PLANS; COMMITTEES NAMED

Plan Four Major Functions, Beginning With Reception February 22.

F. W. BROWN, CHAIRMAN

Will Include Mid-Year Convocation and Basketball Games in Addition to Other Events.

Junior Week, peak of college social life, will start on George Washington's birthday and run into the following week, the council of junior class presidents announced Tuesday night.

Four major functions planned are: The Junior Class Reception, Thursday, February 22, 1923, 4.30 to 7.30 p. m., a holiday in the University. The Junior Prom, Friday evening, February 23.

The Annual George Washington Glee Club Concert Dance, Saturday evening, February 24.

The Junior Play, Monday evening, February 26.

Francis W. Brown, Columbian College, was appointed chairman of Junior Week by the council of presidents. Harry Friedman, Law School, was chosen Junior Week treasurer.

To Earle W. Manson, Columbian College, chairman of the Student Council social committee and president of the Class of 1924 two years ago, the council gave the honor of chairman of the Junior Prom.

J. Fuller Spoerri, Law School, was selected to be junior reception chairman; Preston Haynes, Medical School, Glee Club Concert Dance chairman, and Henry James, College of Engineering, chairman of the Junior play.

Edwin S. Bettelheim, Law School, will have charge of sale of tickets for all Junior events and Alexander Hillix, Law School, will supervise publicity.

Besides prom, reception, concert, and play, several basketball games and mid-winter convocation will be held during Junior Week, so that the week-end starting with the birthday of the University's namesake promises to overflow with social activities.

The Council of Presidents of the Junior Class announces the appointment of the following committees for Junior Week:

Chairman, Junior Week Committee: Francis W. Brown.

MEET WILSON NORMAL TEAM TOMORROW NIGHT

Girls Basketball Team Makes Debut at Wilson Normal Gym at 8 P. M.

Wilson Normal will be the first opponent of the Girls' Basketball Team, in the first game of the season, to be played to-morrow night, in the gymnasium of the Wilson Normal School, beginning at 8 p. m.

The team has not been picked, but ten of the squad have been chosen from whom the six will be selected. The girls are: Bixler, Proctor, Robison, Umbeck, Terrell, Chickering, Woodford, Wright, and Bowie. From this squad the coach will select a permanent sextet to represent the University in the coming games.

Wilson Normal is rated well this year, and the battle is expected to be a good one.

ELECTIONS BEING HELD FOR COUNCIL POSITIONS

Vote To-day and To-morrow to Fill Vacancies—Eng., C. C., and Graduate Representatives to be Elected.

The Student Council is holding elections to fill the present vacancies from Columbian College, Engineering School, and the Graduate School. The elections began yesterday, and will continue through to-day and to-morrow.

The candidates for the positions are: Columbian, Mary Brown, Richard McPherson, and Marie O'Dea; Engineering, T. Franklin Stewart; and Graduate, J. Fuller Spoerri.

Persons registered in the particular colleges are eligible to vote for the candidates from that college. The ballot boxes will be found in the entrances to Lisner Hall.

G. W. U. ORCHESTRA.

Contribute your musical talent to your Alma Mater. Join the G. W. U. Orchestra.

Rehearsal every Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Chapel, 2023 G Street, Mr. Paul Gable, director.

The success of this enterprise depends upon you students with musical training—upon your loyalty and support.

After looking around, one agrees that the spirit that is most in evidence around G. W. is that which comes in bottles.

Buff and Blue Football Squad Made History This Season

By ROBERT H. McNEIL, Football Manager.

Football history of George Washington University was made by the squad which just ended its season when it accomplished three things, none of which its predecessors did. In scoring an earned touchdown against Georgetown, defeating Catholic University and Gallaudet it can look back upon the season with a degree of satisfaction as it is the first Hatchette team since football was revived in 1920 to succeed in doing this.

From the angle of games won and lost the campaign was not a howling success. Although the team faced a schedule which contained at least four foes out of its class, it scored on all but three of the eight teams met.

"Murphy and Ptak" proved to be the greatest offensive force of the Buff and Blue. This pass accounted for touchdowns in the St. John's game

Frosh Defeat Sophs

Annual Tug of War Sparsely Attended by Loyal Members.

SIDES LIMITED TO FIFTY

Sportsmanship Feature of Event—Frosh Deserved Victory.

"It won't be long now," said the Frosh, when they saw the Sophs Tuesday night. The sides were limited to fifty each. At least a dozen Sophs braved the rigors of the wind and the prospects of a shower bath, to meet the Frosh, when they saw the Sophs last. But out of the dozen only nine Sophs qualified to pull, so it fell to Langer, known to the Sophs as the Arrow Collar Ad, to select from the eager Frosh nine "worthies" to oppose the entire Sophs.

The Frosh furnished the rope and the hose. Elmer Meyers, a freshman, got the hose from No. 23, and some three-quarter inch rope.

A two and one-half inch hose was attached to a two-inch main to supply the water. A fireman stood on a bench and directed the stream, so as to soak any who passed under it. Presidents Foley and Langer fixed the rope. The Frosh and Sophs lined up, nine on a side. Frosh, Meyers, anchor man; Clements, sergeant at arms, next, and so on to Langer, first. Sophs, Foley first, and among the others Bolton, editor of the Hatchet, and Clephane, managing editor.

The signal was given, and the tug started. The Frosh took the lead from the start, and as they prophesied, pulled the Sophs slowly through the water.

When the mighty Foley got under the water the Frosh slacked up to let him feel the cooling powers of ice-cold water, then the other eight were treated to very cold showers.

Although there were only a few who engaged in the pulling, the sportsmanship was the feature of the evening. The Sophs knew they were beaten fairly and left the Frosh to celebrate their victory as they pleased.

JUNIORS TO MEET JAN. 3

Important business will be discussed by Juniors of Teachers College at a meeting Wednesday evening, January 3, 1923, in Lisner Hall. The meeting is called for 7 o'clock by Lydia Shepherd, president.

CENTRAL HIGH REUNION ON DECEMBER 26

The Alumni Association of the Central High School will hold its annual reunion in the Library of the school, 13th and Clifton streets, on the evening of December 26. There will be dancing and refreshments in addition to the usual program of entertainment.

and the Gallaudet contest and put the Quigleyites in position to score against Georgetown.

Three of the seven touchdowns scored by the Hatchettes were due to the recovering of fumbles of the opponents, showing that the men were following the ball, an evidence of good football.

Captain Ptak led in points scored by counting three touchdowns. Altrup, Wells, O'Keefe, and Laux each accounted for one.

Next year should see a great season as Mulligan, Murphy, Laux, Clements, Corbin, Fisher, O'Keefe, Wallace, Wells, Brown, and Hottel should be back to form a nucleus of the winning combination.

This year's letter men will meet in the near future to elect next year's leader.

G. W. CLUB TO HOLD FIRST ATHLETIC SMOKER DEC. 15

The G. W. Club will hold a smoker at the Sigma Chi house to-night at 8.30 for all men interested in athletics. It is especially urged that all men who have earned a "G. W." this year in football, and all who are candidates for their letter in track and basketball, be present. The managers of these sports are also cordially invited.

By getting together in this way so many of the men who have contributed something to the success of the school interests, the club hopes to further school spirit and make their efforts in this direction more effective by cooperation.

CAMPUS LEADERS URGE ADOPTION OF STUDENT TAX

Standards Set by Other Schools Impossible for G. W. Without Support of Activities.

President Hodgkins is in favor of a compulsory student fee to insure the proper support of activities. Other student leaders endorse the plan.

G. Bailee Springston, captain of the football team for 1921, states the following: "The question is not whether we need a football team at George Washington, but are we ever to reach the standards set by leading educational schools, the offer of all-around development in our University life, and not the confinement of book learning alone. Compulsory, that is the answer."

Jack Daily, captain of basketball, 1922, says: "A university is known, to a great extent, by the various teams that represent it. A small team may cause its school to spring into prominence overnight by simply winning a game from a large university. Our school can do this. Bigger and better teams can be placed on the field if the facilities for taking care of the players are improved, but we must first have these facilities. A compulsory tax will, I think, accomplish this very thing. The present system of support is wrong, in that it is placed too much on a selling basis. Instead of telling the students how much they get for their money, why not compel them to give to support athletics."

William M. Ballinger, former editor of the Cherry Tree and member of the tennis team for the past two years, made the following statement: "Notwithstanding the representative and really worthwhile schedule, the G. W. U. team has had for the past two seasons, it should be self-evident that a lack of courts to practice on and a total lack of the usual necessary tennis facilities seriously handicaps the team in all of its activities."

RAZZ BERRY OUT

"When" Or "Of What," Asks Student.

The Razz Berry, George Washington's supreme and only satirical sheet, will make its second venture into a critical world during Junior Week. Last year the Berry was the rage, in more ways than one. This year it will be even more so.

The Razz Berry plans to hold elections through the Hatchet for the selection of the prettiest girl, prettiest cackie, etc., and to find out whether Bryan Morse rates a carton of Camels at the close of the school year, or Earle Manson rates a D. S. C. and Carnegie medal for putting on a Boozeeless Hop, or something.

According to Clarence W. Walker, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, the editors or editor have been appointed. But he further states that great secrecy surrounds their names or his name, for the reason that life may be very cheap following the issue of the Razz Berry.

As they say in the ads, watch this space for further announcement.

CHERRY TREE CONTRACTS MUST BE IN IMMEDIATELY

Every organization, fraternity, and team in the University should have received by this time a blank copy of the contract for space in which to represent their organization in the 1923 Cherry Tree. The contract blank is to be filled out by the responsible officer of the organization and returned to the Editor or the Business Manager of the Cherry Tree immediately. No organization can be given space without the signing of one of these contracts and the fulfilling of its stipulations.

TWO PLAYS PRESENTED BEFORE XMAS HOLIDAYS

Mistaken Identity and a Woman's Vengeance, Themes of W. U. C. Plays.

DATES ARE DEC. 21 AND 22.

Beatrice Henning and Annette Steel Acting as Directors of Local Talent.

Two one-act plays will be presented in Lisner Hall Chapel under the auspices of the Women's University Club on Thursday and Friday nights, December 21 and 22. The first of the play is Moliere's "A Doctor in Spite of Himself," directed by Annette Steel, and the second, Parker's "A Man and a Maid," directed by Beatrice Henning.

Moliere's play is a farce, based on a woman's vengeance on her husband. The lady's husband had given her a beating and to pay him for the rough way he handled her and for the blow to her pride, she represents him as a very eccentric but miraculous doctor. Two peasants in search of medical advice are sent to him. Wherein lies the motive, etc.

The second play has to do with mistaken identity. Gwendolyn, an attractive (of course) debutante, while rehearsing an amateur theatrical at the house of a friend, is mistaken for a parlor maid. Figure it out for yourself.

The cast of the play is—

"A Doctor in Spite of Himself." Sganerelle, Mr. Knowles; Mortine (wife of Sganerelle), Miss Knapper, Miss Dickey; Valere (servant of Geronte), Mr. Gurdner; Lucas (servant of Geronte), Miss Carter; Geronte (a country gentleman), Mr. Pooge; Leandre (Lucinde's lover), Mr. S. E. Weller; Jacqueline (servant to Lucinde), Miss Rice, Miss Cass; Lucinde (daughter of Geronte), Miss Smith, Miss McKelway, Miss Volley.

"A Man and a Maid." Gwendolyn, Emma—Tom Fusche; Daisy (her friend), Elizabeth Coleman; Harold (Gwendolyn's brother), Harry Johnson; Dick (his friend), Smithwick.

LAW SCHOOL BANQUET SUBMITTED TO REFERENDUM

To Decide Whether Law Prom Will Supersede Annual Event.

Will the Law School hold its annual banquet this year or will a Law Prom supersede it? This is the mooted question that the embryo barristers are being called upon to decide this week. The Law Senate struggled with the question for nearly two hours last evening, and having failed to arrive at a conclusion, decided to submit the matter to a referendum of the undergraduates. A canvass in the various classes will end to-night and the result will be laid before the Senate, which meets to-night for that purpose.

The Law School Banquet has always been an event which undergraduates, Alumni, and faculty alike have looked forward to each year. It has almost been a tradition of that school. Last year it was attempted to combine a banquet and a dance at Rauschers, and most dissatisfying results ensued. It was this more than anything else that caused the Senate members to leave the matter to the decision of the student body. The event, which ever it is to be, will be held on February eighth.

GIRL DEBATERS TRY-OUT

Try-outs for the girls' debating team will be held at the Law School Monday at 8 p. m. A special inducement to girls of the University who are interested in debating is the debate with Cornell, which will take place toward the latter part of February. The girls who will take part in the big affair are to be chosen competitively at the meeting Monday evening.

Ten minute speeches will be made by each girl on the subject: "Resolved, That the ship subsidy legislation now pending in Congress, be passed." This is not the subject of the debate with Cornell. It is uncertain just what will be debated on at that time, and the decision will be announced later.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Student Council will be held Tuesday, December 19, in Lisner Hall, at 8 o'clock.

New Buildings Promised

The announcement that the Board of Trustees is about to consider the erection of two new buildings, brings great relief and satisfaction to the minds of all those who are interested in the welfare of this University. Plans are already being drawn for these structures, and if the board acts favorably on them the buildings will be ready by the end of the next term.

The University has been expanding rapidly during the past three or four years, and the nucleus of a really great institution has already been formed. George Washington men and women alike look forward to the day when this school will rank with the foremost in the United States and be the representative seat of learning of that Nation's Capital.

Along with the expansion of the University's holdings has come, from year to year, a constant growth of enrollment. The increased enrollment has exceeded the added accommodations until there is not a class in the school that has sufficient room to carry on its work in the most efficient manner. The new buildings would alleviate this condition and consequently, the standard of education would be raised.

The Endowment Drive Comes to Life

The President of the University has announced that he will rejuvenate the Endowment Drive and make every effort to afford it success. It is to be hoped that he will accomplish a task which is by no means an easy one. The new buildings that have been promised are but a drop in the bucket as compared to the benefits that would be reaped from a successful Endowment Drive. Georgetown University has launched one, and has issued a statement that it is progressing rapidly. Surely the authorities of this school can do as well.

The Alumni Quarterly, which has just recently been presented, should be an excellent instrument to carry the Drive to the graduates who are the ones that will either make the campaign a success or allow it to become a failure. If those former students of George Washington can be appealed to in such a way as to make them "come across," the President's Drive will fill the University's coffers. If not, last year's slump will be repeated.

Lest We Forget

Appreciation was publicly shown to the squad of gridiron warriors, who scored on Georgetown, humbled our chief rival, Catholic University, and defeated Gallaudet, when letters were presented to them at the football hop. This was well enough, these men thus honored deserved all they got, and perhaps more, but let us not forget the scrubs who toiled all season in order that the Varsity might receive its share of practice.

These men who turned out for practice day after day, stood many hardships, took numerous beatings from the Varsity, and stayed with the job, although tempted to quit often, deserve great credit.

Here's to the men who work hard and faithfully, refusing to quit throughout a long, grinding season! Here's to the men who never hear the crowd cheering their names, nor have the privilege of wearing the honored letter! Here's to the scrubs!

THE SPY

President.

Sunday evening marks the beginning of the fourth week of "Abe's Irish Rose," Anne Nichols' Jewish-Irish comedy. The company and the play have proven favorites with Washington playgoers, and crowded houses have greeted every performance. The fun begins when Abe brings home an Irish bride and leads father to believe her the Jewish girl upon whom he has set his heart. It is unalloyed comedy and packed full of laughs. Everyone who likes to laugh should see it.

Garrick.

Devotees of the art of magic will receive their yearly treat next week when Howard Thurston brings his paraphernalia to the Garrick. Thurston is the greatest magician of the day, and will offer a program that is entirely new. He will again demonstrate that "the hand is quicker than the eye." The opening is Sunday night.

Poli's.

Washington will again be treated to the sight of pretty girls in scanty costumes when Eddie Cantor, the famous black face comedian, brings his latest Winter Garden Revue, "Make It Snappy," to Poli's next week. The engagement begins on Sunday evening, and they do say it is a right snappy show. Cantor will offer a new line of wit in the approved Cantor style, and comedy and pretty girls will be rampant.

National.

Sam H. Harris sends his latest importation, "Secrets," to the National next week, beginning Monday night. The play is an English success by Rudolph Bessler and May Edington, and Margaret Lawrence, superb actress, is the featured player. The Washington engagement is the American premier. It is good drama, well portrayed.

This Week.

National: David Belasco presents David Warfield in "The Merchant of Venice." Shakespeare with the Belasco touch and settings. A beautiful thing. Recommended.

We all enjoyed ourselves muchly. We enjoyed most the refreshments. There is one advantage in 'bringing your own'—you can have what you want. The cucumber salad with cherry bisque dressing was very delicious. The crepe paper lettuce was so crisp and fresh. Bolton took so much stock in what he read about the hop that he didn't come prepared, and was vastly worried when she ate like she did eat down at Childs. Abe Norcross was in Childs. He should be appointed to the Board of Rustees. One of the co-eds marveled at the way that man played the 'fiddle.' They are her own words.

Langer was worried. "Way up in the air" thought he. "Suppose I have to jump thru a window to-night."

JUNIORS UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSE STUDENT TAX

Vote to Uphold Compulsory Tax; Plans for Mixer Considered.

Compulsory Student Activities Tax was unanimously endorsed by the Junior class of Columbian College at the meeting held Wednesday evening in Lisner Hall. Eugene S. Thomas, president of the Junior class gave a short speech on the "Tax" and the class voted unanimously to uphold a Compulsory Student Activities Tax.

There was a very good attendance at the meeting and it was voted to hold a Junior Mixer on January 10, refreshments and dancing featuring with admission Fifty Cents. While this will be mostly for juniors, all others are welcome and it is hoped that a large crowd will turn out.

Junior Week plans were discussed, and suggestions as to novel or unique possibilities will be appreciated. The next meeting of the Junior class will be held December 18, at eight o'clock in Lisner Hall.

DEBATE MARINE SUBSIDY

One of the most interesting debates of the season on the much discussed question "Resolved, That the United States Government should subsidize an American Merchant Marine," was won Friday evening by the negative, composed of Cleveland, Silva, and Anderson. The affirmative argument was presented in a very able manner by Levinson, Zirkle, and Temin. Individual first and second honors were conferred upon Cleveland and Temin, respectively.

Due to the fact that Friday night, December 15, has been set for the intercollegiate try out, the debate for that night with the Enosinian Society has been postponed until January 13, 1923.

The next meeting of the society will be held January 6, 1923. The subject for debate is: "Resolved, That the convention system of nominating candidates for the presidency of the United States be displaced by a presidential primary."

JUSTICE SIDDONS GUEST AT COLUMBIAN TEA

Justice Siddons was honor guest at the tea and "At Home" of the Columbian Women held December 5, at the Travelers' Fraternity House, 1719 Eye Street. Mr. Siddons entertained with several dramatic readings.

President: The President Players ring the bell with "Abie's Irish Rose." Poppa hates the Irish and Abie presents him with an Irish daughter-in-law. Sure-fire comedy, superbly acted, with comedy honors going to Leo Hoyt, and Robert Lowe as the Jewish and Irish fathers, respectively. Recommended for laughter.

Poll's: "Passing Show." Eugene and Willie Howard lead out. Many girls showing much girl and little costuming. Settings better than past editions. Good entertainment. Approved. Garrick: No attraction. House is dark this week.

The executive department of Emory and Henry College has decided to launch a plan for securing, or aiding the members of the senior class to secure, positions at the end of their course in line for which they are best adapted.

CHERRY TREE NEED SNAPS, SEND GOOD ONES TO-DAY

The Cherry Tree needs snap-shots. Everyone agrees that one of the most interesting and worthwhile sections of an annual is that devoted to those informal cuts depicting the life of the student in moments when the worries of University existence trouble him the least.

To date the editor of the Cherry Tree has received but a very small part of the number needed for this year's book, and the time when it will be necessary to prepare the sections in which the snaps will appear is drawing unpleasantly close.

There are no restrictions as to the nature of the picture, but the staff does desire that they be clever and above all, clear. Look yours up now, and also look up the other fellows. Talk about it, but above all, do something about it and let that something be the sending of one or more good snaps to the editor of the Cherry Tree to-day.

ARC CLUB TO GIVE DANCE

The Arc Club will hold its Christmas Hop on Thursday evening, December 21, at 2400 Sixteenth Street. All lovers of good dances are looking forward with expectancy to the promised evening of enjoyment. With Christmas and Mistletoe in the air and the famous Edmonston-Parker combination on the floor, what more could be asked.

Pick Ups

With the football season at an end, the sporting spotlight is now held by basketball. Changes have been made in the rules for this year, and it is the general opinion throughout the collegiate world that these rules will tend to slow up the game, and that fans can expect the same sort of play this year as in last.

The University of Cincinnati is running a beauty contest among the co-eds to determine a Varsity Venus to share honors with Helen of Troy. The winner will be awarded by full page photographs appearing in the year book. All students are entitled to a vote.

College fraternity men are the latest New Yorkers to turn cliff dwellers. The price of lodging has caused members of various fraternities to seek a common roof. To meet this need the Fraternity Club building is being erected at Madison and Thirty-eighth street.

Apparatus of inestimable value to persons suffering from cancer has recently been perfected in the laboratories of Columbia University. It consists of a 200,000 volt X-ray machine that is capable of photographing bones a block away.

Stude first: "Your cough sounds better this morning."
Stude next: "Well it ought to after practicing all night."

"Say there, black boy, can't you play honest? Ah knows what cards Ah dealt you."

Students at the University of Minnesota have oversubscribed their $500,000 quota for a campus memorial campaign.

Wisconsin State prisoners are taking correspondence course offered by the State University at Madison.

A youngster 13 years old has been admitted as a freshman at Northwestern University, and a lad 12 years old has been admitted to Columbia. All of which leads to the remark as Coue might say—

The chance of a co-ed being led astray.
Is getting less and less."

HOP OF HOPS SUCCESS; EVERYBODY SATISFIED

Promise of Best Party Fulfilled; Vote of Thanks Due Social Committee.

O Boy! That Hop of Hops! It's a sure thing that after every dance somebody comes out with the statement, nicely quoted, that "It was the best party ever staged at George Washington." It's done every spring following the Junior Prom and the May Carnival, and more often than not, the person interviewed is the Junior Week Chairman, or President of the Presidents of the Junior Classes, or Chairman of the Carnival. But it is seldom anyone has the chance to boast as has the Chairman of the Hop of Hops.

When the Hop was first advertised, everyone put on a wise expression and said, "ah, ah, last year, etc." But the Social Committee of the Council, led, dragged, driven and pushed by Earl Manson, fooled them all by staging a choice affair that rates all the superlative expressions conned from Mr. Webster. Beginning at ten p. m. and lasting until "who knows what time?" the party bore out the proud forecasts of Mr. Manson who promised a festival, carnival, prom and dance combined.

The music was sublime. That's that. The floor was slick. That's that. The girls were lovely. That's that. The chaperones were—er—agreeable. That's that. The stags were few. That's fine.

The Hop is made. Now it becomes known as the annual Hop of Hops, that festival and carnival of music, fun and frivolity. Thanks, appreciation and all that are due to Mr. Manson and his assistants, or those of them who were active, for the rare combination of good time that was "had by all."

Y. W. PLANS KID PARTY

To dress dolls for the Washington City Orphanage is the object of the kid party to be held in the Y. W. C. rooms December 19, at 7.30.

Everybody is invited, and those accepting the invitation are expected to dress like kids. This is the first party of the holiday season and all the girls are urged to come.

ART CLUB PLANS MEETING.

Election of officers and discussion of plans for the coming year will be the feature of the first business meeting of the Art Club to be held Thanksgiving time, according to a statement by Winifred DeVoe.

Miss DeVoe stated that very little interest had been shown in the club and its activities had been delayed on that account.

Honorary Member.

The Enosinian Society celebrated the hundredth anniversary of its founding at a banquet at the University Club, Monday evening, December 11. Mr. Charles Edward Russell, the speaker of the evening gave a very enlightening and entertaining address on Shelley. President Hodgkins responded to a toast on the Enosinian of his time and its relation to the Enosinian of to-day. Mr. Elmer Louis Kayser, secretary of the University, responded to one on the past history of the Society, and J. Fuller Spoerri discussed the future. W. Waldo Gardner, president of Enosinian Society, acting as toastmaster, took as the theme of his remarks the relation between youth and age, holding that "Youth is always right."

There was a very good representation of the membership of former years. It is felt that the event was a two-fold success, inasmuch as it afforded an opportunity to commemorate the past endeavors of its membership over a period of one hundred years, as well as to bring into contact with each other past and present members. The Enosinian Society is very proud to announce the addition to its roll of distinguished honorary members the name of Charles Edward Russell, economist, sociologist, and poet.

"On your mark. Get set. Go." The schedule for the coming year has not been approved by the Student Council as yet. It is expected that the first meet will be with Georgetown.

The number of candidates out for the team and the spirit that they are showing is very encouraging, and it is easily predicted that George Washington will have a winning team this year.

Gives Illustrated Talk on Civilization and Architecture of Central American People.

Major George Oakley Totten, Jr., a prominent local architect, gave an illustrated lecture on the architecture of the Mayas, a people of Central America, before the Architectural Club of the University, Tuesday, December 12. According to Major Totten, the Maya civilization, in architectural lines, is superior to both the Inca and Aztec forms, although the latter are better known.

The club had a large attendance at this meeting, including many former students and members of the club. Punch and cookies were served at 10 p. m.

R. O. T. C. ON TOUR OF INSPECTION AT FORT

G. W. U. Unit Visit Fort Myer for Inspection of Medical Equipment.

The G. W. unit of the R. O. T. C., in charge of Major Jones of the Medical School, recently visited Fort Myer to inspect medical equipment.

The unit first visited the filtration plant in Rosslyn, and afterwards were conveyed to the Fort in trucks. The hospital was the first point of inspection. Inspection was made of the Eye, Ear, and Throat Clinic, respiratory ward, minor injuries ward, X-ray room, ward for venereal diseases, and dental clinic. The unit then proceeded to visit the storerooms, the morgue, kitchen and mess hall, saddle rooms, sewage disposal plant, and septic tanks besides the up to date laundry and stables.

Major Jones is also planning to obtain reservations for the R. O. T. C. at cavalry exhibitions at the Fort, and if permission may be obtained, to organize a mounted unit, which will be given instructions in horsemanship.

Y. W. TO STAGE PAGEANT

The University Y. W. C. A., assisted by the girls' and men's glee clubs, is going to stage a pageant of old and well-loved Christmas carols at the Chapel, Friday, December 22, at 12.30 a. m. The time of the pageant is Christmas Eve night, twenty-two hundred years ago; the scene, hills of Judea; dramatic personae, King of the Orient, shepherds, and angel chorus. Everybody come! Get the true Christmas spirit!

Wandering Greeks Defeated by S. P. E.—Three-Corner Tie Results.

On Thursday night, December 7, in the Center Market Auditorium, the Kappa Sigma Fraternity basketball team defeated the Sigma Chi quint by the score of 19 to 16. It was one of the cleanest and fastest games played in the tournament so far.

Kappa Alpha forfeited to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon five.

Phi Sigma Kappa clinched honors in their circuit of the league last Monday evening, when its team won from the Theta Delta Chi basketball team by the score of 19 to 14. It was close and hard fought up until the last part of the fourth quarter, when two baskets by Klopsch and another by Rutley gave the Phi Sigs their victory.

In the second contest of the same evening, Sigma Phi Epsilon trounced the Wandering Greeks to the tune of 34 to 10. Butler played well for the winners.

Sigma Chi won from the Sigma Nu quint Monday evening, November 27, in the Center Market Auditorium, by the score of 8 to 5. The contest was hard fought all the way. Long and Miller played well for the Sigma Chi five.

On Monday, December 4, Delta Tau Delta trounced the Sigma Phi Epsilon team by the score of 24 to 12. Newby and Colburne did the best work for the Deltas.

In the second game Phi Sigma Kappa played rings around Sigma Nu, to the tune of 25 to 10. Rutley and Klopsch starred.

PHILIPPINIANS HEAR LECTURE ON QUAKES

The Philippinian Club held their regular monthly meeting in the Lisner Hall Chapel last Tuesday night. The speaker of the evening was Professor Tondorf, of Georgetown University, who spoke on the subject of "Earthquakes," in a most interesting lecture. Another feature of the program was a violin solo by Mr. Gil L. Sulist, accompanied on the piano by Mr. O'Shea.

This club is one of the most enterprising of all the campus organizations. It was organized this fall by the Philippine students in the University, and has already proved most successful. The objects of the club are to bring interesting speakers and entertainers to their meetings, and to take an active part in all student activities. Every student in the University is cordially invited to all of their meetings, which are held once a month and are always popular.

LAW FROSH PLAN MIXER ON DECEMBER FIFTEENTH

The first mixer of the Freshman Law Class will be held in Lisner Hall on Friday evening, December 15, beginning at 8 p. m., according to recent announcement made by Paul Patterson, president.

The committees in charge have promised many new features of entertainment. The tickets are on sale at seventy-five cents each.
